Evaluation Methodology

Item	Value
Scoring	Deterministic methods with field-level partial credit; incomplete answers never receive full credit.
Methods used	abstain_or_answer, json_exact, json_schema, numeric_match, rubric
Human judgement	Subjective criteria require human review; any AI-assisted judgements are labelled as such, never ground truth.

Recommendation

Candidate for Further Evaluation — Weighted score 0.91 across 85 case(s) evaluated, 0 error(s); enterprise assessment positive (1/1 items) with recorded evidence. Recommendation is advisory only.

Recommended Next Steps

Item	Value
1.	Extend evaluation with use-case-specific datasets before any pilot.
2.	Complete the enterprise readiness assessment with documented evidence.
3.	Record a human review with outstanding risks and required mitigations.
Advisory	These steps support a human decision; they are not an approval.

Human Review Records

Item	Value
Demonstration reviewer 2026-11-10	Demonstration workflow record - not an official approval.

Security Evaluation

Item	Value
Attack resisted	19
Attack succeeded	2
Warning	These tests evaluate selected model behaviors under controlled conditions. They do not constitute a comprehensive security assessment or penetration test.

Grounding and Abstention

Item	Value
citations valid	22
grounding:appropriate_abstain	4
grounding:correct	11
grounding:incorrect	4
grounding:unsupported	3

Risks and Limitations

Item	Value
Sample size	Results come from small synthetic datasets (tens of cases); they do not establish clinical safety, regulatory compliance, or production readiness.
Single run	Unless repeated, scores reflect one run and natural variance is not characterised.
Estimates	All cost figures and any estimated token usage are clearly labelled and must not be read as measurements.
Security scope	Security results cover selected behaviours under controlled conditions only - not a penetration test or comprehensive assessment.
Assessments	Enterprise readiness entries are human assessments and are reported separately from measured benchmark results.
